Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 7. (AP).—Harvey Firestone, the rubber magnate of Akron, Ohio, died at his winter home here early today. Announcement of Mr. Firestone's death was made by his son, Russell A. Firestone, in the following statement:

"Harvey S. Firestone passed away in his sleep early this morning at his home here. The funeral will be held in Akron later this week."

The cause of death, it was learned authoritatively, was coronary arterial thrombosis—formation of a clot in the coronary artery, one of the two main vessels carrying blood from the heart.

Mr. Firestone was 69 years old last December 26. He had suffered from illness intermittently in recent years but his health was good when he arrived on his birthday for his annual winter sojourn at the ocean front estate.

The rubber manufacturer held an optimistic outlook on life and his last interview, on his arrival here, reflected that trait.

Too Much Government

He said business conditions were "not as good as they were a year ago," but attributed that condition "in large degree to government regulation of industry."

"If we want to regain prosperity we must do a right-about-face on regulation," he said. "In other words, prosperity still depends on two fundamentals—work and production, and these in turn are dependent on the release of capital."

"The first incentive toward release would be the repeal of the undistributed profits tax and the repeal of the capital gains tax."

Quiet Life

The gray-haired, blue-eyed industrialist spent his days quietly at his extensive estate. His principal diversion in later years had been putting a golf ball about a practice green. Usually one or more of his children competed with him. Another favorite recreation was watching his children and their families play tennis on the private courts.

A spokesman at the estate several hours after Mr. Firestone's death said they were "not talking to anyone" and no details of the industrialist's last hours were available.

Mrs. Firestone, the former Ida Smith of Jackson, Mich., whom he married in 1895, was believed to have been at his bedside. She did not accompany her husband when he arrived with his daughter, Miss Elizabeth Firestone, a senior at Smith College, but joined him after spending Christmas in Akron with their nine grandchildren. They had five sons.

Born in Ohio

Mr. Firestone was born on a farm near Columbiana, Ohio, in 1868. Even as a boy his business ability was pronounced and his parents encouraged his desire for a commercial career. After graduating from high school and business college, he was given a position as bookkeeper in Columbus in the coal business of John W. Taft.

Successively he was bookkeeper, salesman and sales manager, and it was while demonstrating a rubber tire buggy in Detroit that young Firestone foresaw the possibilities in rubber tires.

He entered the business for himself in Chicago. With an investment of less than $15,000, he developed the business and in a few years sold out for $1,254,000.

He then moved to Akron, which he envisioned as the rubber manufacturing center of the country, and with a handful of employees in a renovated machine shop the farm-bred youth launched what was destined to become one of the leading industrial concerns in the country.

Plant Expands

The rubber tire business grew apace with rapid growth of the automobile industry and the Firestone plant was expanded periodically until in the boom years of the World War it employed more than 20,000 persons.

With the tremendous expansion of the tire business, Firestone realized the necessity of a constant supply of raw materials. He acquired for his company cotton mills in Massachusetts and established buying centers for raw rubber in Malaya. Next he acquired land in Liberia, where he established his own rubber plantations.

The last move was an important factor in the campaign he inaugurated against Great Britain's rubber monopoly. That country

FOUND DEAD

The bodies of Nino Columbo, (above), 41, a golfer, and Mrs. Christine Oliveri, 24-year-old mother of two children, were found in a car in a remote section of Brooklyn, N. Y. Strangler's cord was wrapped around the woman's neck and detectives found evidence of a terrible struggle before the pair succumbed to the strangler's coils.

Michigan Swept By Bad Floods; Other Areas Suffer

Detroit, Feb. 7. (AP).—Spreading floods in Michigan, Wisconsin and Ontario inundated thousands of acres, flooded basements, washed out bridges, blocked highways and threatened human lives today.

Pouring from swollen streams after week-end rains and spring-like temperatures which melted snow and ice, the floods drove many families from their homes. Dynamiters on an ice jam in the Pige river at Alma, in Central Michigan, hoped the worst was over with the river receding, but in the Mt. Clemens vicinity, in southeastern Michigan, the Clinton river rose ominously.

Already the stream, sweeping ice before it, had coursed over acres of the adjacent land, isolating dozens of homes, inundating roads, and even submerging automobiles. The water reached to the tops of house trailers, long since abandoned.

Sixty mile northward the Sebawing river retarded by ice jams at its mouth into Saginaw Bay and at bridges en route, flooded the town of Schewiang. In 1925 a flood caused $150,000 loss there. Sixty per cent of the village was under water today.

The Chippewas dam, north of Grand Rapids, Mich., gave way last night. Dwellers along Grand river, also north of Grand Rapids, left their homes.

Rescuers in rowboats removed scores of persons from flooded homes in southern and central Wisconsin yesterday.

An estimated ten square miles of farm land in Wisconsin were under water and ten highways in Eastern Racine county were closed.

Blind Woman, "Eye" on Trip

New Orleans, Feb. 7. (AP).—Miss Roselle Brewer of Chicago and Lady Luck, her "seeing eye" German shepherd dog, prepared for a "grand time" in New Orleans today after their first airplane trip. Blind for seven years, Miss Brewer came here as a guest of the Louisiana Society for the Prevention of Blindness and will speak at a dinner of the society tonight.

$150,000 Chicago Fire

Chicago, Feb. 7. (AP).—One fireman was killed and another injured yesterday when flames swept through a section of the Tuley High School on the northwest side. Fire Marshal Michael Corrikan estimated the damage at $150,000.

Income Tax Modification

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 7. (AP).—Republican Assembly leaders planned today an early public hearing on proposals for modification or outright repeal of the capital gains and loss tax.

As Democratic Governor Lehman's proposal to modify that provision of the personal income tax law was reported ready for introduction in the Legislature, a high Republican source predicted the hearing "within a fortnight."

Public opinion would be sought on that measure, the spokesman said, as well as on a bill sponsored by Republican Chairman of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee Abbot Low Moffat, already before the lawmakers, asking repeal of the tax.

The Lehman measure is expected to follow recommendations of his annual budget message in

Vice Fighting Rector Killed by Midnight Slayer; Clues Scarce

Southern Pastor Killed by Bullets of Nocturnal
Sniper as He Was in Study Preparing a Sermon—Predicted a Tragedy Necessary to End Reign of Vice

St. Simons Island, Ga., Feb. 7. (AP).—Rain-washed footprints and two .38 caliber bullets gave slender clues today to the nocturnal slayer of Dr. Charles H. Lee, vice-fighting rector of historic Christ Church.

A midnight sniper, aiming from a corner of the rectory garage, shot the 72-year-old rector Saturday night as he worked over a sermon in his home on this vacationist haunt off the coast of Georgia.

The footprints trailed an eighth of a mile through moss-hung, tangled woodland toward the island recreation pier, then faded out.

A friend of the rector, G. C. Durand, headmaster of Sea Island School, said Dr. Lee had been disturbed over what he described as vice conditions in the region. He said Mrs. Lee quoted her husband as saying "Some great tragedy will have to occur before Glynn county will have law and order."

"This," said the school master, "looks like the tragedy. There are many dives being operated on the island which Dr. Lee, myself and others have been moving to clean out."

Dr. Lee was shot through a closed window. His wife said the two heard one report and thought it an automobile blow-out or backfire. Then leaving the room, she heard another and returned.

"I found Dr. Lee sitting on the settee just as I left him," she said, "his head leaning forward. I saw his face covered with blood."

The rector was a second cousin of the Confederate general, Robert E. Lee.

Scout Membership Passes Million for Anniversary Rites

For the first time in 25 years, registered membership in the Boy Scouts of America passed the million-hundred thousand mark, Dr. James E. West, chief scout executive, announced in conjunction with Boy Scout Week being celebrated February 6-12 to commemorate the 25th birthday of the Boy Scouts of America.

The exact year ending figures just released, show 1,129,827 Boy Scouts, Cubs, Senior Scouts and their leaders registered and actively engaged in the program of character building, citizenship training, camping crafts and comradeship in 38,151 troops, packs, ships, neighborhood patrols and tribes throughout the United States of America and its possessions.

The growth for the year 1937 over the preceding 12 month period was 5.6 per cent. The greatest percentage of growth in any single phase of this movement was in cubbing, the program for boys 9, 10 and 11, which averaged 30.5 per cent growth.

"The past year has been one of the greatest in the history of the Scouting Movement," declared Dr. West. "It has been a year of great achievement and greater inspiration, gathering as we did 27,222 Scouts and leaders from every state and many foreign countries into a great Jamboree camp upon the shores of the historic Potomac river in the heart of the nation's Capitol. With this inspiration, we are certain that all America appreciates the fundamental values which Scouting offers boys, and that every man and woman will do all in his power to make Scouting available to more boys in every community."

John (Bud) Fraser Be- lieved Pilot of Plane Seen Over West Point Academy

West Point, N. Y., Feb. 7. (AP).—Jeopardized by ice floes and swift-running currents, a diver prepared to descend into the Hudson river off West Point today to search for the body of the pilot of a plane that plunged into the river last Saturday night.

The victim was believed to be John (Bud) Fraser, manager of an airport at Port Jervis, and member of a flying family, who disappeared on a flight from Detroit, Mich., to Newark, N. J.

The plane was first heard over the United States Military Academy late Saturday. A few moments later distress signals were flashed from the craft, but at the same time the pilot failed to land as the academy's parade ground was lighted for the purpose.

Two coast guard cutters, the Manhattan and Comanche, stood by while the diver made ready to struggle against one of the swiftest currents along the river. Soundings indicated a depth of approximately 165 feet.

Buoy Marks Spot

A buoy bobbing on the ice-decked waters today marked the spot where the plane plunged into the river and vanished Saturday night.

After locating the approximate position of the wreckage, crews of two coast guard cutters planned to resume grappling for the plane today.

He was ferrying a single-motored, four-place monoplane from a factory repair job for a private owner.

His ship was the only one unreported in this area at the time.

Bennett, of Saugerties, before whom he was arraigned, imposed a fine of $25. In default of the fine DeGraff was committed to the Ulster county jail.

German Churchman Protests Judge's Rule Against Public at Trial

The Rev. Martin Niemöller Protests Accusation of a Traitor,
Says It's Without Justification.

TWO CHURCHMEN

Court Allows Two Churchmen
in Courtroom as Synod Representatives.

Berlin, Feb. 7. (AP).—The Rev. Martin Niemöller protested bitterly in a 45-minute speech today against the decision of three presiding judges to bar the public from his trial on grave charges growing out of his unyielding opposition to Nazi church policies.

"Why am I here under the accusation of a traitor?" demanded the black-clad Protestant churchman, who served in the World War as a submarine commander. "I've done everything to justify such a charge."

"You'll find that out later," the state attorney retorted.

The accusation made against the Rev. Niemöller, if proven, are tantamount to treason under the stringent Nazi laws. They allege malignant attacks upon the state and party, continuous misuse of the pulpit for political purposes and public incitation to disobey state laws.

A great crowd under strict police supervision had gathered outside the Trial Court building two and a half hours before proceedings started. Despite the pre-announced ban on the public and press attending the trial, they were hopeful of a last-minute ruling to permit them in the courtroom.

Numerous English pastors also appeared for admission.

The Rev. Niemöller looked well despite his long confinement.

Admitted, Then Excluded

When the courtroom doors opened his wife and those having invitations from the church ministry—principally Confessional Synod pastors and ministry workers—were admitted, but 10 minutes later they were excluded while the three presiding judges retired to consider the possibility of opening the trial to the public.

The judges deliberated two hours before deciding on a closed trial.

The court ruled that two churchmen would be permitted in the courtroom as representatives of the Confessional Synod.

Prayers were said in churches throughout Germany, asking God to give Niemöller strength for the "grivous hours" before him. The churches were silent concerning the trial itself, which was expected to last several weeks.

The clergyman's actual trial climaxed a year of protest against nazification of Germany and efforts of Chancellor Adolf Hitler's faction to bend church affairs to his will. Before his imprisonment, Niemöller had been arrested repeatedly and had been in court various times as a witness for prosecuted brethren.

His imprisonment came after he disobeyed the church ministry's decree that names of men quitting the church must not be read from the pulpit. He also had solicited a collection to finance the anti-Nazi fight of the Confessional Synod, the majority group of Protestant churches.

ARRESTED ON BENCH WARRANTS AND HELD

Bernard MacDonald, 36, of 472 75th street, Brooklyn, and Wesley Stokes, 18, of Highland, were arrested on bench warrants and brought to the Ulster county jail over the week-end.

MacDonald, who was arrested by Perth Amboy police, is charged with carrying a dangerous weapon. Stokes, who was arrested at Highland by Corporal Mahoney, is charged with burglary in the third degree and unlawful entry.

Bridge May Go Soon

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Feb. 7. (AP).—Thawing weather rapidly broke up Niagara Gorge's ice jam today and it appeared to be only a question of time before the wreckage of "Honeymoon Bridge" would plunge into the river. A widening area of open water moved steadily toward the twisted mass of girders, which have been smashed into several sections by dynamite blasts.

Dr. LeFever Says Miss Kelder Was Not Irrational

Testimony was concluded Saturday in the Mary Jane Kelder will contest action which has been before Surrogate George F. Kaufman and a jury for several days and following summations today the case will be sent to the jury. The will is being contested on the grounds of undue influence and also on a theory of incompetency on the part of Miss Kelder to make a will at the time the instrument was drawn. With the exception of one brother, John, members of the family and various relatives as well as friends were mentioned in the will.

It is the contention of the contestants that Miss Kelder never had any trouble with her brother and had no intention of discriminating against him but that at the time of the making of the will she was not physically and mentally able to comprehend and do what she actually intended to do.

Following the testimony of Dr. Mothers that Miss Kelder had impressed him as being mentally weak and irrational to the extent of being a "moron," the proponents put on the stand in rebuttal Dr. Kenneth H. LeFever who had attended Miss Kelder in 1933 and he testified that he would not call her irrational. He said he had observed her day her hands and make strange noises but he said her illness was a painful one.

Mrs. Margaret M. Schoonmaker who had been a nurse in the Kelder home in 1937 when she attended Dr. Kelder during his last illness was also called by the contestants.

She said she had not observed any action which might be called irrational and told of Miss Kelder performing household duties. It was following Guy Kelder's death that Miss Kelder spoke to Mrs. Schoonmaker.

Guerrilla Attacks Trouble Japanese, Delay Offensive

Shanghai, Feb. 7. (AP).—Swift, fierce surprise attacks by Chinese guerrillas scattered throughout the Japanese-occupied territory surrounding Shanghai are delaying the Japanese offensive against China's "lifeline" zone north of here.

They show that Japan after seven months of warfare, has a difficult task in attempting to conquer China.

Another indication of the size of the task came in reports that enough munitions to supply Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's armies for another year have been shipped from British Hongkong to Hankow, China's provisional capital.

Japanese military sources indirectly admitted the guerrilla situation today when they announced that operations had been started against pirates and Chinese remnants based on an island in Lake Tai, west of Shanghai.

The Japanese said many launches attacked the guerrilla stronghold, and asserted that guerrillas operating near Soochow, west of Shanghai, had been wiped out.

Foreigners from Nanking told of four truckloads of Japanese being ambushed and wiped out near Chinkiang, on the lower Yangtze.

Japanese received word that the "yellow swords" were active only 20 miles from Nanking and sent a column of 200 men to wipe them out. Foreigners reported. Only 15 of the column was said to have returned. Then a detachment of 500 was sent out and only 135 came back.

Counter-Spy Tells Story

London, Feb. 7. (AP).—"Miss X," a blonde in black, of the British counter-espionage service, today finished her story of springing the trap on four men accused as arms plans thieves during a lightning appearance in Bow street police court.

The heroine of Britain's latest spy thriller told of the climax of nearly three years work to foil the copying of munitions plans taken from the big Woolwich arsenal, allegedly for a foreign power.

"Miss X" told how last January 21 she had telephoned the intelligence service after P. E. Glading, former arsenal employee and chief accused, told her he was going to meet some one at Monday were arrested a few days after the other two.

In denying any foreign alliances, Leachy said the navy intends "to stand on its own feet in providing protection to the United States and it expects to succeed."

He said it had been his endeavor throughout the hearing to convey the navy's understanding that the proposed legislation "is simply to authorize a sufficient navy to provide protection to the United States and its island possessions against attack by any single foreign naval power, an increase having been made necessary because of the increased naval programs of other nations."

He said the navy did not have in mind any particular possible enemy, but does consider all foreign navies in its study of necessary defenses.

"NO ALLIANCES"

Admiral Leahy Tells House Committee Navy Expects to Solve Problems.

Tokyo, Feb. 7. (AP).—Foreign Minister Koki Hirota said in parliament today the government had reached no decision as to how it would reply to formal requests from the United States and Great Britain concerning Japan's naval building program.

"The foreign office is consulting the authorities concerned about the reply," said Hirota, "but there has been no decision and I am unable to express an opinion on the matter."

Hirota said the fact he had not yet received the expected inquiry from France was a reason for declining further to discuss the matter. Later it was disclosed that the French note, similar to those delivered by the United States and Britain Saturday, had been transmitted to the foreign office after Hirota spoke.

Earlier the foreign office spokesman denied Japan was building "capital ships of 43,000 tons."

"It has been widely reported abroad," he said, "that Japan is building capital ships of 43,000 tons, but at the moment there is no plan to construct such battleships."

(Previous Japanese official statements have denied plans to build ships of specific tonnages, but none has made the general denial that Japan was building or planning capital ships above the limits of the London treaty, 35,000 tons.)

"No Foreign Commitments"

Washington, Feb. 7. (AP).—Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, told the House naval committee today that the navy expects to solve its defense problems "without alliances" and has no "foreign commitments."

Assuring he wished to clear up any misunderstanding that may have arisen from his previous assertions, the navy's highest ranking officer said:

"The navy has no thought of obtaining assistance from any other nation. It has no thought of giving assistance in the solution of the problems of any other nation."

"It has no foreign commitments."

"There are no understandings regarding assistance to be given, or received."

"There has been no talk of giving, or receiving, assistance."

Leahy's refusal last week to disclose publicly the nature of discussions Captain Robert Ingersoll, head of the navy war plans division, had recently with the British admiralty had brought speculation in congressional circles as to a possible understanding with Britain.

Leahy's categorical denial of any commitment to any foreign nation was given in testimony on legislation to authorize an $800,000,000 naval expansion program.

Need Patrol Planes

Leahy told the committee the "most urgent improvement" needed in the nation's air defense was an increase in naval patrol planes and their tenders. He also urged authorization for more minesweepers, minelayers, fleet tugs, oil tankers and a survey ship.

None of these types of auxiliaries are covered by the bill in its present form and Leahy suggested that, if necessary, they be provided by cutting down the number of destroyer tenders, repair ships and submarine tenders proposed by one each.

Although he said the navy would need large numbers of auxiliary vessels in wartime, Leahy said the proposed program would provide only those essential to service the fleet in time of peace.

In denying any foreign alliances, Leahy said the navy intends "to stand on its own feet in providing protection to the United States and it expects to succeed."

He said it had been his endeavor throughout the hearing to convey the navy's understanding that the proposed legislation "is simply to authorize a sufficient navy to provide protection to the United States and its island possessions against attack by any single foreign naval power, an increase having been made necessary because of the increased naval programs of other nations."

He said the navy did not have in mind any particular possible enemy, but does consider all foreign navies in its study of necessary defenses.

As usual, the meeting will be held at the Hotel Governor Clinton, at 8 o'clock. All who are interested in stamp collecting are urged to attend.

Annual Parish Supper Feb. 16

The 15th annual parish supper under the auspices of the united societies of Immaculate Conception Church will be held at White Eagle Hall, Wednesday, February 16, from 5 to 9 p. m.

Societies participating in arranging the supper are the Sacred Heart of Jesus and Mary Benevolent Society, the Holy Rosary Mothers, Holy Name, Children of Mary, Junior and senior branches.

Proceeds of the supper will be used to defray the expense of redecorating the church, which was done by members of Immaculate Conception Parish, and finished for Christmas, under the able direction of Frank Zakrzewski.

After the supper there will be dancing with music by Tony Kwasnik's orchestra.

The Rev. Stanislaus Malinowski, pastor, is honorary chairman of the committees arranging the supper, and Walter Zakrzewski, general lay chairman. Heads of other committees are:

Culinary department—Mrs. Anna Kaminski, and assistants Mrs. Mary Prusakowska, Antonia Kopolowska, Michalina Raczowska, Bronislawa Staryk, Mary Tatarzewska.

Tickets—Mrs. Martha Kellerman.

Patrons—Mrs. Mary Tomczyk, Donations—Mrs. Rosalia Brown, Treasurers—Joseph Wojnowski, Refreshments—Frank Zakrzewski.

Indications are that the supper will draw a record crowd and net a nice amount for the worthy cause of renovation work on the church.

Patron Tickets for K. of C. Ball

Under the leadership of Andrew T. Gilday, general chairman, plans are rapidly getting underway towards the promise of a successful annual charity ball which is to be held at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium on Friday evening, February 25, under the auspices of Kingston Council, No. 275, Knights of Columbus.

Each year, the local council asks the public by means of a charity ball to assist in raising necessary funds to carry out the charity work of the organization. This charity is dispensed to all in need regardless of race, color or creed, and the general public is again asked this year to lend support and give financial assistance to this worthy non-sectarian charity fund. The Patron Committee under the experienced chairmanship of Allan A. Baker, has already mailed patron tickets to the supporters of the charity fund, who have so nobly responded to past appeals. The Patron committee asks that a quick and generous response be made to this annual plea, so that the work of the charity fund committee will not be retarded in any manner whatsoever. Since the early patron ticket returns usually foretell the success of this charitable function, everyone is urged to do so, as conveniently as possible, so that the committee in charge may be able to definitely ascertain what progress has been made. Any one who has not received a patron ticket may procure the same by getting in touch with Mr. Baker, or by calling the Knights of Columbus building.

As in other years, a program of first class entertainment is being arranged, along with two orchestras for the dancing. The respective chairmen of these committees are working diligently to secure a program that will measure up to the standard that has been set in the past, and hope to put on a show that will be thoroughly enjoyed and remembered by all who attend.

Britannia Standard Set for Silverware in 1696

During the last quarter of the Seventeenth century when the extravagant display of wealth at the court of the Stuart kings and in the homes of the nobility reached a height which caused historians to call it the "silver age," demand for plate became so great that silver-smiths, faced with a shortage of bar silver, melted down coins to get material for making their wares. Naturally, by the end of the century there was a distinct scarcity of coins and of silver for the mint, writes Alice H. Cutant in American Collector.

Accordingly, in 1696 it was decreed that all silver objects, other than coins, should be made of a higher standard than "sterling," namely 988 parts pure silver in 1,000. This became known as the "Britannia standard" because it was marked with the figure of Britannia in place of the lion passant. It was enforced from 1696 until 1720. After the latter date, it was allowed if a craftsman wished to develop a piece in the finer metal. Whenever this happens the piece is always marked with the figure of Britannia. Much of the "Jubilee" silver was made in this standard.

London is and always has been the most important assay town in Great Britain. From the year 1478 until the end of the reign of George III in 1821, the mark was that of a leopard's head uncrowned and looking more like the face of the famous Cheshire cat has been in use.

Fragonard, French Artist, Patronized by the Court

Jean Honore Fragonard, eighteenth century French master, is best known for his sumptuous pictures of the extravagances of the French court in the years before the revolution, notes a writer in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Fragonard, born in 1732, enjoyed fame and the patronage of wealthy members of the French court in the days before the revolution. He decorated the apartment of Mme. du Barry and one of his paintings, acquired by King Louis XV in 1765 when Fragonard was admitted to the French academy, is in the Louvre.

The artist fled from Paris in 1793, and when he returned, early in the Nineteenth century, lived in obscurity until his death in 1806.

He studied under Chardin and Boucher and mastered Boucher's style so thoroughly that he was permitted to do reproductions of his work. Later, after he had won the Prix de Rome, Fragonard was influenced by the paintings of Tiepolo.

Three-Horned Chameleon

The three-horned chameleon grows to a length exceeding 12 inches and the males appear to retain some of the characters of the prehistoric Triceratops, with three curious horns an inch to an inch-and-a-half in length, protruding forward from the nose and between the eyes. These horns are used with extraordinary effect. The males are extremely pugnacious and fight furiously. At times the contests develop into a tedious pushing match, when the horns are interlocked. At other times a really vigorous fighter will dispose of its adversary in a few moments. The coloration of the males, chiefly brilliant blue, green and yellow, is particularly vivid and attractive.

Perfection

The great Italian sculptor, Michelangelo, was once visited by an acquaintance, who remarked on entering his studio: "Why, you have done nothing to that figure since I was here last." "Yes," was the reply; "I have softened this expression, touched off that projection, and made other improvements." "Oh!" said the visitor, "those are mere trifles." "True," answered Michelangelo, "but remember that trifles make perfection; and perfection is no trifle."

BARS BAR MRS. DAVIS FROM "DIXIE"

Mrs. Mariha Davis, wife of J. Richard "Dixie" Davis, is shown talking to her husband through the bars of his cellroom in Philadelphia's city hall. It was the first time she saw him since he was indicted in New York's racket busting drive. He was held in $300,000 bail. At the right is Police Sergeant John Hanlon.

"HONEYMOON BRIDGE" WRECKAGE DYNAMITED

A half-ton of dynamite is shown being discharged all at once beneath the fallen "Honey Moon Bridge" at Niagara Falls, N. Y., chopping it into four sections. The blast loosened the ice jam on which the wreckage lay, causing wide openings to open in the ice.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

Rattle-Brained Raffles
Rushville, Ind. — Rushville's daffy house-breaker who starts fires, turns on water faucets and plays other pranks but never takes anything from the houses he visits is on the loose again.

Gerald Voyles reported his house was ransacked and the telephone ripped from the wall—while someone broke into Wilbur Mahin's home, went through all the drawers and set fire to the second floor.

Down The Hatch
San Diego, Cal.—Twenty hard-boiled eggs figured in a new championship for San Diego.

Paul Christen ate them all in one minute and claimed the egg-eating title.

Lost And Found
Kansas City—When a stranger offered to sell a fireman's badge he said he found, Fire Inspector Joseph Maroney paid him a dollar, intending to do a fellow fireman a good deed.

Inspector Maroney later learned his firelighter brother, Patrick, had lost a billfold containing the badge—plus $50.

Love's Windup
Chicago—Policemen raced to the watch repair office of Edmund V. Bucher, Jr., 21, after his mother reported a young woman had telephoned that her son threatened to take his life.

The police found nothing amiss at the office, and then saw Mrs. Bucher outside with her son.

"What's this about you telling your girl you were going to kill yourself?" they asked him.

"Not I," said Edmund. "I've been winding up the watches and checking them to see they're keeping the right time. All I remember saying when I left her was, 'I'm going down to wind up everything.'"

Four Boys Steal Yacht and Are Held as Pirates
Suva, Fiji Islands—A brief career of piracy has ended for four Indian youths with a long jail sentence threatening as the reward for their emulation of the buccaneers of old.

The quartet gathered all their belongings one night, appropriated about $500 belonging to the aged father of one of them, and taxied to the waterfront.

There they disappeared but the following morning the yacht "Seafarer" was missing.

The yacht had just returned from a cruise and was completely equipped with food, navigation instruments and other supplies.

For two months the yacht and the youths were will of the winds of the South Pacific.

The yacht and its inexperienced crew of four finally were apprehended near Loma Loma in the Lau group.

The would-be pirates are being held here for the next session of the island court.

REG CARRINGTON ASKS COMMANDER ELLSBERG:

"Can you tell a Real Difference between Camels and other cigarettes?"

CLUB-ROOM CONVERSATION (above) so often swings around to cigarettes. Commander Ellsberg says: "That famous saying, 'I'd walk a mile for a Camel' expresses how enthusiastic I am about Camels myself."

Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic.

NEW DOUBLE-FEATURE CAMEL CARRIAGE Two great shows—"Jack Oakie College" and Benny Goodman's "Swing School"—in one fast, fun-filled hour. Every Tuesday at 9:30 pm E.S.T., 8:30 pm C.S.T., 7:30 pm M.S.T., 6:30 pm P.S.T., over WABC-Columbia Network.

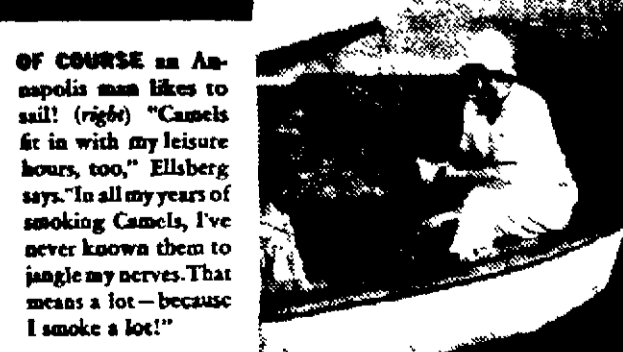

"Yes—absolutely!" says Commander Edward Ellsberg. And millions of other steady smokers agree that there is a distinct difference in Camels. That's why Camels are the largest-selling cigarette in the world.

A MAN OF ACTION! (right) Commander Ellsberg shares under-sea danger with his men. He says: "The last thing a diver does before going down—and the first thing he does after coming up—is to smoke a Camel."

THE TORCH (left) invented by Ellsberg. Imagine the long, tiring hours of research he put in on this successful invention! He says: "When I feel tired—a Camel gives me a quick 'lift.'"

OF COURSE an Annapolis man likes to sail! (right) "Camels fit in with my leisure hours, too," Ellsberg says. "In all my years of smoking Camels, I've never known them to jangle my nerves. That means a lot—because I smoke a lot!"

Party for Mauterstock Pupils

It was a happy occasion for the piano and elocution pupils of Miss Mauterstock when they met Saturday afternoon in the lecture hall of the Trinity M. E. Church for one of their "get-together" parties. An interesting program of piano solos, duets, readings and songs was enjoyed. The artistic rendering of two soprano solos by Miss Shirley Fowler added to the attractiveness of the program.

The fun of the afternoon started when Anna Van Deusen played a spirited march and, led by Miss Mauterstock, the pupils had a grand march, doing all the stunts their leader did. This created a great deal of merriment. Many other games followed, then a large circle was formed and Miss Mauterstock awarded prizes for the games and to the pupils for excellence in their work.

Again a merry time followed when each pupil received a snapper and after opening it and doing the caps, read their fortunes. The two whose fortunes were the most clever were also awarded prizes.

Refreshments were served to the large gathering and each received a valentine. All expressed their appreciation to Miss Mauterstock for the party.

London, Feb. 6—Lady Mary Faith Montagu, eldest daughter of the Earl and Countess of Sandwich, was married today to Philip Nesbitt, of Carmel, Calif., at the Huntingdon Registry Office. Y., who for many years lived in New York city. Lady Mary's father succeeded his uncle as ninth earl in 1916. The title was created in 1660. Lady Mary is a sister of Lady Elizabeth Montagu, of Viscount Hinchbrook, and of the Hon. William Drogo Sturges Montagu. 50th Wedding Anniversary

Pennington Photo

High Falls, Feb. 7—Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Ghear of High Falls celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in the local Firemen's Hall on Friday evening, February 4.

The popularity of Mr. and Mrs. Ghear was evidenced by the number of friends and relatives who eagerly accepted the invitation to attend the celebration. It was the largest and most impressive affair that has been held in High Falls since the 25th anniversary celebration of the same couple which was held at St. John's Parish House in 1913.

Firemen's Hall was decorated with artistry and restraint. The decorations were based on the general plans of representing the three periods. The first, white; the second, silver; the third, gold. Streamers of white draped across the ceiling hung from white bells, caught up with yellow gold loops, branches of evergreens, dusted with artificial snow were placed outside the windows, between the window and the outer screens. This gave an effect of a wintry landscape, most charming and original.

The musicians were partly concealed behind a group of pines at one corner of the hall. The stand on which were displayed the many attractive gifts presented to the couple was placed at the same end of the room, at the opposite corner, balancing the orchestra space. At the other end of the hall was a long table with a punch bowl, generously and constantly replenished. Around midnight a delicious and substantial supper was served.

Directly opposite the entrance, the bride and groom received their guests. Near them on a table lighted with candles was the wedding cake, repeating the decorative scheme. The three layers, white, silver and gold, were embellished with gold and silver leaves and topped by a diminutive bride and groom.

At 9 o'clock the characteristic and beloved song "I Love You Truly," was sung by Miss Ruth Slater. This was followed by the Golden Wedding Waltz at which time Miss Mary L. Hodge, wearing an authentic bridal costume of 1888, invited the guests to participate in an old-fashioned waltz. At 10:30 o'clock Mrs. LeRoy Welch sang the beautiful "Silver Threads Among the Gold," which demanded an encore, the famous "Put on Your Old Gray Bonnet."

During the entire evening, waltzes dating from 1888 to 1938 were played at varying intervals.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Slater of New Jersey who furnished the music at the 25th anniversary, played one lively old time square set which brought back old memories. Mr. and Mrs. Ghear were married during the historic blizzard of 1888 at the beautiful old home-land of Mrs. Ghear's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wager of High Falls. This home was used as a barracks during the construction of the New York Water Works. Later it was completely demolished. The house in which Mr. and Mrs. Ghear have lived for these 50 years was the original home of Mr. Ghear's parents. Today it welcomes their four children, five grandchildren and two great grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Ghear, Mr. and Mrs. Albert N. White, Mrs. Emma Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hodge, their grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Zager, Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. White, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Friel, Master Robert Ghear and Miss Mary L. Hodge, and their great grandchildren, Master Daniel Zager and Master John White.

Mr. and Mrs. Ghear, with their descendants, feel that this privilege and opportunity for reunion will always be an occasion for rejoicing which comes to few people. Their pride and pleasure were shared by all fortunate enough to be able to celebrate with them.

Celebrated 91st Birthday

Freeman Photo

Charles L. Marsh, retired business man, celebrated his 91st birthday on Thursday at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Thompson, of West Chestnut street.

Marsh enjoys good health and is often seen at hockey games and ski jumps, getting as excited as any of the spectators. He also sweeps the side-walks for his daughter and is quite a handy man about the house.

Mr. Marsh was deeply absorbed in his many cards and telegrams of congratulations when he was interviewed, and is showing one to the photographer in the picture above.

He was born February 3, 1847, near Esopus. The foundations of the stone house still stand about one mile from the Esopus Reformed Church. As a boy he attended the private school of Henry Crane in Rondout.

Reaching young manhood he decided to learn the trade of a machinist and boiler maker and was an able pupil of John Dillon in the Cornell Shop.

He married Theroza Gregory, a sister of Wesley Gregory, of this city, and of the late John Gregory.

Sixty-two years ago Mr. Marsh left his native home for a sunnier clime. With his brother, James, he established a blacksmith shop and ship yards at Solomon's Isle, Chesapeake Bay.

Mr. Marsh turned his inventive mind and skill to the occupation of his new district and became the inventor of deep water oyster tongs which were used exclusively in the bay. A replica of these tongs appears in the Smithsonian Institute along with the picture of the inventor.

Maryland claimed him for a state senator in which he served three terms and the local schools made him commissioner and treasurer. He was also a trustee of the Methodist Episcopal Church for 30 years.

Mr. Marsh is a member of the Knights of Pythias and of the Junior Order of Mechanics. He spends all his winters in Kingston because, as he says, he has enough warm weather in the summer time at Solomon's Isle.

Calla Brings Cheer Year After Year

The yellow calla lily, the pink primrose, the fragrant white bell of the lily-of-the-valley! By knowing easy ways to force them into bloom you can enjoy them months before they would flower outdoors.

How to get the calla to do its handsome best? The sure way is in the bottom of the pot for drainage and keep your plant during the blooming period in a bowl of water. A sunny window, by all means, and temperature not lower than 55 degrees.

So your calla will bloom again next year, let it dry out thoroughly when its blooming period is over. Keep the pot on its side all summer and give the plant no water at all. Up it comes next fall, good as new.

As for the adorable primrose, its forward behavior will astonish you when you force it indoors. Take a plant out of the ground now, keep as much of the soil on the roots as you can and put the pot in a sunny window beside the calla.

You'll have just as good luck with the lovely lily-of-the-valley. Put the pups in a bowl of water with sand or fibre, let in a dark spot until the shoots are three inches high. Then into the light and into bloom about three weeks after you've started the pups.

And why not complete your window with a plumy fern, try "Gleaming experiments with terrariums." Our 10-page booklet, SUCCESS WITH HOUSE PLANTS AND FLOWERS, is packed with tips on bulbs, vines, ferns, terrariums, dish gardens, house

"Splendid Program"

Cleveland, Feb. 7 (AP)—Out of the small business men's conference came a "splendid program," its chairman, Fred Roth, said today, but at the same time he put down many proposals as "just plain screwy." "There is no question but that the conference was worthwhile," he declared.

"The majority had constructive ideas. Out of it has come a splendid program which will lead to a better understanding between government and business."

Business Trend Down Last Week

Industrial stocks during the past week reached their lowest average since late in November, but rallied the last two days, to show slight net gains for the week, as did the rails. The latter reached the lowest point, on the Dow Jones average, that they have struck in years. Utility stocks were off for the week. In the short session Saturday, with a volume of 450,000 shares, industrial stocks were up 2.36 points for the day, closing at 122.88; rails lost 0.14 point, to 12.56. Utilities showed a gain of 0.29 point for the day, to close at 18.82.

Business as a whole, last week, showed continued reluctance on the part of buyers to order ahead in appreciable quantities and the trend was downward. The output of the steel mills and automobile factories was under that of the preceding week. As to car loadings all classes of freight except coal showed a shrinkage. Textiles were still in the doldrums.

Heavy construction contracts showed a gain last week but mostly in the matter of public construction. The Steel Institute estimates that the industry will spend $165,000,000 this year for plant construction and equipment, but this will be a big drop from 1937, when $220,000,000 were spent. However, the estimate may prove low if trade pickup and tax limitation restrictions on capital are lessened.

Talk of negotiations for new wage agreements and announcements of wage reductions in some plants, are reminders that there is, as always, possibility of labor troubles disrupting business. At the demand on the part of automobile workers for an "annual wage" one commentator says: "The conviction, apparently widespread in labor ranks that if industry cannot assure the laborer security the government can be induced to assume that obligation, overlooks the vital question whether any government can ever guarantee its citizens a living on the scale which those who made this demand have in mind." A government can doubtless equalize incomes on some level or other, but that is not what American labor leaders are talking about. Wage negotiations have a relation to coming prices and price outlooks affect current orders for goods.

As to the possibility of success in projected "conferences" called to bring together "government and business" it is noted that the composition of a conference to discuss the railroad situation is to be composed of one railroad manager, one rail labor executive, one representative of railroad creditors, one plain citizen—and eight political officeholders.

A significant outcome of the conference held last week by the "small" business men's group, is indicated by their statements and demands, that as a whole there is not a great deal of difference of opinion between big and little business men on the question of government interference in the management of private enterprise.

The long fight over the question of governmental regulation of holding corporations, under way for the past two years, is apparently approaching a conclusion. Arguments in the Electric Bond & Share Co. test case on the registration provisions of the Utility Holding Co. Act of 1935 are scheduled to start in the U. S. Supreme Court today, although it is possible that the case may not be reached until tomorrow.

Powell Asks Review

Washington, Feb. 7 (AP)—William H. Powell, the film star, asked the board of tax appeals today to review federal taxes levied on a 1934 salary of $135,000. Powell protested disallowance of $22,735 he claimed as a loss on demolition of a home in Beverly Hills which he said was a business investment and not his personal home. Powell paid $73,046 in income taxes on his 1934 salary. Today's appeal was from a treasury claim for $15,423 more.

Port Ewen Scouts Display Model of Wiltwyck Village At St. James M. E.

One of the most interesting and creditable exhibits put up by a Boy Scout Troop in this section, is being shown in the window of the Hardenbergh store, 34 Main street, this week.

It is a model, made to scale, of Wiltwyck, the original settlement at what is now Kingston, as it appeared in 1660, showing the various buildings, streets and the stockade which surrounded it.

The model, which was made by the Scouts of Troop 26 of Port Ewen, was shown at the Camporee held in Kingston last year. It was constructed from data given in the Marquis Schoonmaker history of Kingston.

The stockade is built on a scale of 20 feet to the inch, the buildings on a scale of ten feet to the inch.

Scout Executive Wright says that the troop has been asked by the State Historical Society to place the model in the state museum at Albany, but he understands that the Scouts are inclined to keep it in Ulster County.

The stockade which is shown surrounding the village, was erected for protection against the Indians, following a visit to the new settlement in 1658 by Director Peter Stuyvesant, who also ordered the inhabitants to remove their houses to the central location. The place was at that time known as Groote Esopus, but in 1661 Stuyvesant created it a village and gave it a formal charter under the name of Wiltwyck. At that time there are said to have been about 15 farmer families of laborers and artisans. Dwellings, all of which were probably built of logs, numbered about 35.

OFFICE CAT

When shadows lurk within my woe and night seems just ahead,

When shadows lurk within my house because the sun has fled;

To penetrate the pathed gloom where fear and honor camp,

I firmly grasp my shears of faith and trim my lamp.

When clouds of doubt obscure the forms of friends of long ago,

When fogs of mean suspicion rise, and the winds of rumor blow;

Before the stealthy mists of hate have left their evil stamp,

With haste I seize my shears of faith and trim my lamp.

Colored Minister—Am dere anybody in the congregation what wishes prayer for their failin' Brother Jones—Yassuh! Ah's a spen-trif an' Ah throws mah money round reckless like.

Colored Minister—Very well, join in prayer for Brudder Jones—Jes' after de collection plate has been passed.

Let the other fellow talk occasionally. You can't learn much listening to yourself.

Being absorbed in what you are doing has its drawbacks: When men wore long beards—a wife allowed her husband to play poker twice a month while she had a party of lady friends. The husband came home one night while all were there, his whiskers loaded with tobacco juice.

Wife—Dear me, John, couldn't you turn your head to spit? John—Nope, not in that game.

Sunshine A laugh is just like sunshine. It freshens all the day. It tips the peaks of life with light and drives the clouds away. The soul grows glad that hears it and feels its courage strong. A laugh is just like sunshine for cheering folks along.

Mrs. Brown always allowed her maid to have her young man in the kitchen in the evening. But knowing the girl was entertaining a new swain, she slipped down stairs and listened at the kitchen door.

Next morning she said to her maid: Mrs. Brown—Mary, your new young man seems very quiet. I never hear any sound of talking while he is in here.

Mary—No, mum, he's that shy, he's done nothing but cat up to now.

Teacher—Give the principal parts of the verb "swim". Junior—Swim, swim, swim.

Teacher—Good, now give the principal parts of the verb "dine". Junior—Aw, quit your kidding.

Read It Or Not When crude, rubber and sulphur were accidentally spilled on a stove, and vulcanized, rubber was discovered.

Somebody has defined a columnist as one who gets richly paid for writing stuff that a cub reporter would get fired for writing.

Possibly for the increase in the male marriageable age is that a few young men still have hopes of earning their own living.

A tramp applied to a man for a few cents to buy a loaf of bread.

Man—Can't you go into any business that is more profitable than this?

Tramp—I'd like to open a bank, if I could only get the tools.

Some people look fine, some act fine, some do fine and some feel fine, but very few possess all these qualifications.

Roberta—Why don't you sue him for breach of promise? Marybelle—I would, only I don't have a decent photograph for the newspapers.

At The Theatres

Broadway: "Mannequin." After a series of films that didn't quite click at the box office, Joan Crawford makes a strong comeback as the star in this story of a working girl whose ambitions carry her to fame and fortune. The play is partly a fashion parade and partly an insight into the seamy side of life and the acting of co-star Spencer Tracy is excellent as always in the role of a wealthy man who falls in love with Miss Crawford. This M-G-M production packs a dramatic wallop and the settings are elaborate and costly. Others in the cast include Ralph Morgan and Alan Curtis.

Kingston: "Charlie Chan at Monte Carlo" and "Born to the West." Super-sleuth Charlie Chan goes to the gambling halls of Monaco for his latest adventure in crime checking and the first double feature at the Kingston is a thriller of the first magnitude. It has excitement, comedy and mystery and Warner Oland plays the title role and is supported by Kewee Luke, Harold Huber, Bob Kent and Virginia Field. "Born to the West" is a melodramatic tale of the border country and bravery, blazing guns, hard riding and romance are combined to make the show entertaining in itself. The cast features John Wayne, Marsha Hunt and Johnny Mack Brown.

Orpheum: "Easy Living" and "White Bondage." A comedy and a domestic story of misunderstanding love are the two features on the Kingston: "Charlie Chan at

HIGHLAND YOUTH HELD ON BURGLARY CHARGE

Wesley Stokes, 18, Highland resident, was arrested Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock on a bench warrant charging him with third degree burglary in connection with a series of burglaries staged at summer homes near here last November.

Jesse Stokes, brother of Wesley, and William Robinson, were arrested several weeks ago on burglary charges. All three were indicted by the Ulster county grand jury.

Sergeant E. J. Hulse and Corporal Mahoney of the BCI apprehended Stokes Sunday. They took him to the county jail pending arraignment today in county court.

According to authorities, Stokes is said to be implicated in burglaries at the summer home of Dr. Arthur Dedrick, Frances Roberts, and Alice Bedine.

maker about her own estate. Mrs. Schoonmaker said she had known Miss Kelder for perhaps 25 years and had spoken to her frequently.

Usual Type Dolls

Questioned about having seen dolls in Miss Kelder's room the witness said she had observed them and that they were the usual decorative type which are frequently found in bed rooms. She said she had never seen Miss Kelder play with the dolls or talk to them. Following Guy's death Miss Kelder had spoken to the witness about making over his rooms in an apartment for rent and she discussed other matters, including the fact that she wanted to leave some money to the Fair Street Reformed Church, her church. She also was told by Miss Kelder that it was a surprise to her that her brother, Guy, had not left any money to the Fair Street Reformed Church or Dr. F. B. Sooley, pastor, who had been so very kind to the family. Mrs. Schoonmaker also told of shopping trips which she had made with Miss Kelder.

Mrs. Maude Gildersleeve, who resides next door to the Kelder home on Green street, testified she had never heard Miss Kelder discuss disposition of her property. On cross examination, however, she told counsel that she knew that Miss Kelder had kept a list of persons whom she wanted to benefit under her will. This witness also told of shopping trips up town with Miss Kelder.

At the conclusion of the contestant's case motions for dismissal of the complaint and for probate of the will were made by Mr. Harvey for the executor. When the court ruled to allow the matter to go to the jury and denied the motions, then proponent offered rebuttal testimony and at the conclusion of such testimony the evidence was closed and a recess taken until today for final submission of the matter to the jury.

Wicks Thanked by Sportsmen Hold American Legion Banquet Tuesday At Gov. Clinton

A card of appreciation was received today by Senator Arthur H. Wicks from the general committee in charge of arranging the 1937 National Convention of the American Legion in New York city.

Senator Wicks aided the Legion in the state legislature by recommending the full appropriation requested, and his efforts besides being appreciated by the Legion itself, have brought him many favorable comments from officials of New York city, who tried to make the convention a red letter event in the history of the ex-servicemen's association.

Major General Harbord, chairman of the committee, sent the card of appreciation to Senator Wicks.

This is expected to be one of the largest gatherings of sportsmen ever held in the county and the president and committee on arrangements have prepared a very unusual program for the evening.

Among the speakers will be Mr. Cowden and William C. Adams, Director of Fish and Game from the State Conservation Department. N. Marks Bump, secretary of the Federated Council of the State of New York will also be a speaker. Mr. Bump is a cousin of Gardiner Bump of the State Conservation Department, who has addressed the Federation several times.

O'Mahoney And Clarke in Albany Mat Bill Tuesday

Big time wrestling returns to Albany Tuesday night when Dan O'Mahoney, former champion, and George Clarke, of Scotland, meet in the main bout of a benefit show at Tenth Infantry Armory.

Proceeds from the affair will be used by the Junior and Senior Hadsassah societies for medical and child welfare work in Palestine. O'Mahoney and Clarke are still rated as two of the outstanding challengers for the crown now held by Bronko Nagurski and a win for either will go a long way in furthering their claims for a title bout.

In the semi-final, Joe Cox of Kansas City, meets Bob Managoff of Chicago. Managoff has come along like a house afire during the past few months with victories over some of the topnotchers in the sport. Henry Piers, of Holland, and Salton Al Billings of Cleveland will meet in one of the preliminaries, while "Slim" Armin Zimbleman, of California, and Henry Garber of Germany will meet in the other.

Illinois Has Chance for Tie

Chicago, Feb. 7 (AP)—Illinois, only team to defeat Purdue this season, stands in the way of the Boilermakers and a tie for the Big Ten Conference basketball lead tonight.

The Illini today bear only a faint resemblance to the team which early in January scored a 51 to 43 triumph over Purdue. In the regular season, guard injured in the game, still is on the sidelines. Louis (Pick) Dehner, leading scorer of the conference, and Louis Boudreau, ace forward and ball hawk, joined him last week when ineligibility and a suspension combined to further wreck the varsity squad.

Purdue, meanwhile, has managed to maintain its team intact, although Indiana was within ten minutes of bringing about its demoralization Saturday. The Boilermakers, with three quarters of the game gone, were trailing 32 to 24. Then, with a crowd of 8,500 looking on, they did a sudden about face, scored eight successive points and went on to win 38 to 36.

Ohio State won the only other conference game Saturday, turning on power in the last half to defeat Iowa 51 to 43.

Dartmouth on Road This Week

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—Dartmouth's Indians, ambushed once on their march toward the Eastern Intercollegiate League basketball title, face further harriding on the road this week in games with Yale and Princeton.

The Indians had won four straight games, three of them on the reservation, and held first place unbeaten when they faced Pennsylvania's quintet Saturday night in Philadelphia. Pastrana. But the Quakers jumped the Big Green and won a notable 40 to 33 victory.

The defeat sent Dartmouth into a tie for first place with Cornell with four victories and a defeat each. Temple's imposing quintet is at last "swinging" and the boys are scurrying for cover in the Eastern Intercollegiate Conference. The Owls took Penn State, 37 to 30, and West Virginia, 51 to 32, on Friday and Saturday nights to push into a tie with State for first place in the conference race. State, after losing to Temple, came back at Washington Saturday night to shade Georgetown, 34-33.

Revolta Champ At Sacramento

Sacramento, Calif., Feb. 7 (AP)—Johnny Revolita added the Sacramento Open tournament to his list of golfing conquests today in addition to increasing his lead as top money winner of the winter tournament season.

He conquered rain, wind and other provoking playing conditions to post a 72-hole total of 290 yesterday, two strokes over par for the distance. Revolita, from Evanston, Ill., has accumulated 5,250 since the winter swing began last December.

Revolta finished a stroke ahead of Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., who had a 72-hole score of 291. Among pre-tournament favorites who finished far back were Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa., 238, and Jimmy Hines, Garden City, N. Y.

Spring Weather Balks Skaters

Saranac Lake, N. Y., Feb. 7 (AP)—Janet Milne, Saranac Lake's all-conquering women speed skater, was back home today, balked by the weather in an attempt to win her sixth successive championship of the season.

Rain yesterday reduced the ice track at Post Johnson, N. Y., scene of the Sir William Johnson championships to slush, forcing officials to postpone the final day of the meet until February 28.

The spring-like weather, effecting a state-wide area, also caused postponement of the four-man bobsled race for the Samuel R. Packer perpetual challenge trophy on the Mt. Van Hoevenberg run.

Ulster Gun Club

The regular weekly session at the Ulster County Gun Club Saturday produced some good scores. Five target-busters tested their skill and Joe Zeeh with 43 out of the 50 was high for the afternoon. Pat Osterhoudt turned in a 24 for the best round.

In the two-man team "who-buys-the-dinner" contest two of the combinations shot the first leg of the 100 targets and ended in a deadlock. Maurice Davenport's 18, combined with Joe Zeeh's 20 added to 38 against Ed Davenport's 14 and Pat Osterhoudt's 24, leaving the dispute even-up.

The sheet range will be open again next Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

SNOW SPORTS

RICHARD O. GRUVER

Whenever we speak about snow sports these days to our friends, almost without exception they respond with the exaggerated enthusiasm usually reserved for conversation with children.

Even harder to bear, though, are the meetings with snow fans. In the main, this class is so anxious to defend the Cause, so willing to bolster our spirits and project plans that the conference usually develops into a whirlwind of chatter.

Thus, on Sunday, rather than to risk meeting either friend or fan, we made an imaginary round of the Ulster snow centers. And this, in strict seclusion, is what we saw:

Rosendale
At Williams Lake, Rosendale township, the Polar Bears were immersing themselves in the lukewarm water and reproaching Gus and Walter Williams for the weather. On Rosendale Hill the Telemark ski jump stood deserted, its take-off platform a sorry sight; its hill and flat bare; the parking lot a lonely sea.

Woodstock
Down the long flank of Ohayo mountain, Woodstock, wound the icy outline of the East's longest toboggan slide, for all the world like a bearded snake. A crew of men toiled along its length with picks and shovels, striving with full might to save the walls for the Ulster county championship races next Sunday. The hockey and skating rinks showed irregular patches of moisture, like saucers of melting ice cream.

Phoenicia
At snow train headquarters, Phoenicia, some wag, perhaps Lloyd Kinsey of Jim Simpson, had put an enormous wreath of pine and hemlock boughs on the breast of Simpson Memorial Slope, and to complete the effect he'd tied long streamers of black crepe to the wreath. On the door of the ski hut, which houses the restaurant and first aid station, there was this ambiguous sign tossing gently in the south wind: "Closed."

And Points North
The combined communities of Pine Hill, Big Indian, Fleischmans and Margaretville hired a hall in Arkville, got an orchestra from Kelly's Corners, a master of ceremonies from Dry Brook and held a wake of their own around a bier laden with skis, skates and sleds. . . . For the time being, therefore, it appears that the ghosts have got us. . . .

Meaning of "Slalom"
The word "slalom" is to many skiers, surprisingly enough, cloaked in mystery. Its appearance in practically every news story or article about skiing and skiers only serves to heighten curiosity for those who do not understand. Slalom racing, then, is that form which takes place on a hillside. Flags are set in the snow and spaced in such a manner that the racer must pass between them. In order to do so he must employ practically every type of turn known to the sport. He must not fall and all executions must be clean.

Dartmouth Winter Carnival
Dartmouth's 25th annual winter carnival will be held at Hanover, N. H., on Friday and Saturday. This well-established fixture is the best known of the season's many collegiate outdoor affairs and it attracts top-flight amateurs. Featuring the ski meet will be a continuation of the international competition provided last year by the presence of the Swiss Universities skiers. This comes with the presence of the Bavarian team, intercollegiate champions in Europe, and of Norwegian entries.

The carnival is expected to attract 700 house party guests. In addition to skiing there will be basketball, ice hockey, swimming meets with Princeton and Harvard, speed skating races on Occum pond, concerts and amateur theatricals, as well as the famous "Outdoor Evening." In a setting of colored lights and fireworks on the golf course slope, which always features the crowning of the carnival queen on Friday night.

Middlebury's Big Meet
Middlebury College in Vermont expects to accommodate 190 skiers, coaches and managers for the intercollegiate ski Union championships on February 13 and 19. Dick Hubbard, Middlebury's ski coach, is preparing a formidable squad for the meet which will be held on the slopes of Bread Loaf. Melvin Carter, Elbert Cole, Bob Gale, Dick Barclay and Dave Goodell form the nucleus of the team.

Beaumont on Saturday
Western competitors en route to the national championships championships at Brattleboro will visit Beaumont on Saturday for the jump there. The following day the Norfolk, Conn., Winter Sports Association jump will be held at Norfolk and sanction has been made to place the meet under F. I. S. rules, in order that the Rood brothers, Sigmond and Birger may compete. Sigmond is the present national titleholder.

Pullman Snow Car
A new Pullman snow car service into Ticonderoga is being sponsored by the New York Central and the Delaware & Hudson Railroads each week-end starting Friday night. . . . If there's any snow.

World Championships
At Lahti, Finland, on February 24 through 28, 15 nations will compete in the world cross-country and ski-jumping championships. The meet will be preceded by the annual congress of the F. I. S. at Helsinki.

Mount Tremblant Race
Sunday at Ste. Joite, Quebec, the downhill ski race on the Mount Tremblant will be held. This event, conceded one of the most difficult of its kind, will give the men and women racers a two-mile descent with a vertical drop of 1,050 feet per mile.

Colonials Win at Hippodrome in Game with Visitations, 29-27

Playing the preliminary at the New York Hippodrome, Sunday night, Frank Morgenweck's Klinsch Colonials won over the Brooklyn Visitations by the score of 29-27, as Phil Rabin showed the way in collecting points with an individual pile of 16 markers. Nat Frankel made 15 for the Visits.

Klinsch held its own during the first half, and did as well as the Brooklynites under the strict amateur rules. The midway score was 14-13 in favor of the Colonials. The second half was a bit of a struggle, also, but the Morgenweckers managed to eke out the two-point victory.

Four shots decided last night's contest, the Colonials making nine and the Visits seven. Each club tossed in 10 fields.

A player from Philadelphia by the name of Van Hook contributed four points to the Colonial cause at the Hipp.

Hercules, Fullers in Playoff For City Cage Title Tuesday

The Winner—Apostoli

Tuesday night at the municipal auditorium, the playoff for the championship of the first half in the Closed Division of the City Basketball League will be played between the Hercules and Fullers.

These clubs are deadlocked with a percentage of .800, and their battle for the honors should be a gingerly affair, say those who have followed the league since the beginning. Each club defeated the other once, then the Jewish Youth Alliance trimmed them both.

This duel between the Hercules and Fullers is sandwiched in between the two other games on the regular weekly schedule which is as follows:

Forst vs. Central Hudson at 7:30.
Fullers vs. Hercules, 8:20.
Jewish Youth Alliance vs. Knights of Columbus, 9:30.

Because of the playoff, tomorrow's slate of contests is expected to draw a record crowd to the auditorium.
